Diamond Grove Homeowners Association A Common Interest Development

We are an incorporated Common Interest Development (CID) under the direction of a Homeowners Association (HOA), governed by a five-member policy making Board of Directors who are elected from among the property owners. Our business affairs are managed by the professional management company of Associa Northern California.

It is important to note that a common interest development is not a social club. It is a business corporation with elected officers who voluntarily donate their time to the business of governing the corporation. Their duties are strictly controlled by the corporation's governing documents and established California State Law.
